THE ROLE OF LEARNING ENGLISH FOR MEDIATION IN UKRAINE

Mediation is one of the most popular forms of settling conflicts in the world. Mediation (from the Latin, Mediation - Mediation) - is private and confidential use of intermediaries to exit the conflict. It allows you to avoid losing time in the court proceedings and additional and unforeseen expenses. Mediation is a process in which a neutral third party, the mediator, helps to resolve the conflict, promoting the development of voluntary agreements between the parties. The mediator facilitates communication between the parties to clarify their positions and interests seeking effective solutions to the problem by allowing the parties to reach their own agreement.

In ancient times, justice was swift, unpredictable and subjective. People who needed to solve business affairs, did not like to take risks when making decisions, so they created their own systems, such as chambers of commerce. This allows businesses the time to settle conflicts without killing and unpredictable decisions of judges and juries. Thus was the prototype of modern arbitration courts.

Its advantage was that the result was more provided and the decision was final. The downside was an absolute victory or absolute defeat because both parties were required to submit results, regardless of whether they agree with it or not. Most often completed by an award not only conflict but also the relationship between the parties. A lot has changed since those times. Some things are much better, faster and cheaper. Unfortunately, this does not apply to domestic proceedings. The proceedings in the courts have become much longer and more expensive. Therefore, in many developed countries revived the ancient method of mediation.

In many cases, people can solve the problem through discussion and negotiation; they will achieve faster and better results than with confrontation or trial. However, most of them cannot do without the help of someone third. Strong emotions, hostility, confrontation tactics inequality and social situation can become barriers to meaningful negotiations.

At this stage in Ukraine, we see the rapid development of the industry, because people and companies increasingly settle disputes without the use of the judiciary. Mediation helps them quickly and efficiently resolves the dispute, the outcome of which will meet the interests of both parties. It should also be added that the mediator will conduct the mediation in a way that would be considered appropriate and that work for both sides, for fast and high-quality dispute resolution. This type of dispute settlement is very popular worldwide and gaining high speed and Ukraine.

That's why, it is very important to study English and other foreign languages to engage in this activity, because there are often disputes between persons and entities not only at local or regional level, but also among foreign companies. Knowledge of English as a language of international communication is very important, because mediators thereby increasing the direct range of customers that will appeal to them for help and which increases the level of their company thereby affecting the company's profits.

So, the development of mediation in Ukraine is growing every day, because this dispute resolution is very profitable, fast and quality for both. I think the trend is learning English and other foreign languages mediators will be more successful and qualified, and thus improves the company in this type of service. It should also be noted that mediation in Ukraine is very low, so we should think about the future lawyers to develop this sector because the world it is very popular and brings good profit for firms and also through state taxes that they pay.

A good and skilled mediator can only be the person who has a thorough knowledge not only in law, economics and other fields, but also and speak foreign languages and will provide services not only to individuals and businesses in Ukraine but also foreign.

That's why, we as future generations should think about the introduction of these services in Ukraine and of course English as a language of international communication will facilitate the development and transfer of activity to a new level of development.
